PINTOY® brand toys and children's products are made with regularly tested materials

To all our customers,

In the past month, a lot of justifiable concern has been raised about the safety of toys entering the global market. With the rapid expansion of the toy industry in China, companies there have offered toys to the market without really understanding or taking their responsibilities as manufacturers seriously, thus spoiling the reputation of the whole industry, and causing recalls for major toy companies who had turned to them for supply.

We would like to assure our customers that all of our toys are produced only in Thailand and coloured using materials tested under EN71-3 and ASTM F963 standards to be sure that they contain no lead or heavy metals that could be harmful to a child.

PINTOY® products have been produced for over 20 years under the same ownership. We are ISO 9001 certified, and are one of the earliest manufacturers of wooden toys in our region to establish a procedure of regular testing of colourants and finishes before use - not merely before shipment. We always take our responsibility to provide high quality safe toys very seriously.

You may continue to buy and let your children play with our toys with complete confidence in our quality and care.
